Tyrol Day 2024: Euregio Summit on Artificial Intelligence

The people of the Tyrol/South Tyrol/Trentino Euroregion gather in Alpbach. Outstanding research and innovation will be awarded. The “Tyrol Day” marks a festive highlight.

18 August 2024 18:00 - 19:30 | Stage | CCA Herz-Kremenak-Saal

Welcome of Scholarship Holders

The European Forum Alpbach 2024 kick-off for scholarship holders and participants of the Alpbach Seminars: Meet your peers, see an art performance and inform yourself about everything you need to know to successfully navigate through the days ahead.

19 August 2024 09:00 - 12:30 | Seminar | CCA Liechtenstein-Saal

Geopolitical Shifts and the Global South: Navigating a New Risk-Reward Paradigm

Track: SEM, Security

The seminar will delve into current global crises, from wars to geopolitical struggles, and examine the pivotal role of the Global South with a special focus on Africa. It will further look at Europe's role, in this new geopolitical setting. The participants unpack strategies to navigate the shifting geopolitical terrain for a balanced future.

Gopaldas, Ronak; Director; Signal Risk; Seminar Chair

Tchakarova, Velina; Founder; FACE For A Conscious Experience; Seminar Chair

19 August 2024 09:00 - 12:30 | Seminar | CCA Hayek-Saal

European Security and the Struggle for Technological Sovereignty

Track: SEM, Security

Progress in emerging and disruptive technologies (EDTs) is enabling a transformation of security and the democratisation of technological tools of war for which Europeans are unprepared. The seminar investigates how Europeans can consolidate defence innovation in EDTs, reduce critical dependencies, and re-shore critical supply chains in a multipolar world. A tabletop exercise allows participants to explore how current gaps in technological sovereignty practically affect European security and defence.

Burton, Joe; Professor of International Security; Lancaster University; Seminar Chair

Soare, Simona; Professor of Strategy and Technology; Lancaster University; Seminar Chair

19 August 2024 09:00 - 12:30 | Seminar | Volksschule Obergeschoß 1

The Past, Present and Future of Economic Development and Global Inequalities

Track: SEM, Finance

The empirical evidence about global economic development trends are assessed with novel data sources. Furthermore, participants will be exposed to research frontier methods aimed at addressing the driving factors of global economic development and inequalities as well as future prospects and the challenges posed by climate change, automation, and geopolitical tensions.

Andrijevic, Marina; Research Scholar; International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis; Seminar Chair

Crespo-Cuaresma, Jesus; Professor of Economics; Vienna University of Economics and Business; Seminar Chair

19 August 2024 09:00 - 12:30 | Seminar | Volksschule Obergeschoß 2

The Indo-Pacific: Free, Open, Prosperous, Secure, and Resilient – for Whom?

Track: SEM, Security

The Indo-Pacific region stands for global trade routes, technological leadership, economic vibrancy, but also territorial disputes and regional turmoil – all with potential impact on Europe. The same is true for China's heightening competition with the US, or India's vying for leadership in the Global South. Meanwhile, Japan and South Korea are turning into active foreign policy and security players. Join the debate on how Europe can have a seat at the table and avoid ending up on the menu.

Kim, Duyeon; Adjunct Senior Fellow; Center for a New American Security; Seminar Chair

Reiterer, Michael; Distinguished Professor, EU-Ambassador ret.; Brussels School of Governance; Seminar Chair

19 August 2024 09:00 - 12:30 | Seminar | Mittelschule EG Klasse 3

On Financial Misbehaviours: Uncovering Underminers of Democracy

Track: SEM, Finance

Financial misbehaviours erode core democratic values: tax evasion, sanction evasion, money laundering are some examples. Looking at prevalent techniques (i. e. use of shell companies) and technologies (i. e. crypto assets) enabling these illicit activities, participants gain a comprehensive understanding of modern financial misbehaviours and develop effective countermeasures to mitigate adverse effects on democracy.

Haslhofer, Bernhard; Faculty; Complexity Science Hub; Seminar Chair

Paquet-Clouston, Masarah; Assistant Professor in Criminology; Université de Montréal; Seminar Chair

19 August 2024 09:00 - 12:30 | Seminar | Mittelschule EG Klasse 4

Reinventing Democracy in Europe and Beyond for Future Generations

Track: SEM, Democracy

Young people are disillusioned with democracy and participate less and less in elections. Yet they remain engaged in civic life and join demonstrations among others. How can we rejuvenate democracy by designing and embracing political innovations capable of bringing young people into the fold? Participants will gain a first-hand experience of emerging participatory mechanisms and have the chance to design new ones.

Alemanno, Alberto; Jean Monnet Professor of EU Law; HEC Paris / The Good Lobby; Seminar Chair

Pirvulescu, Corina; Co-founder; Civics International; Seminar Chair

19 August 2024 09:00 - 12:30 | Seminar | Mittelschule Turnsaal

Innovation as an Alternative to Degrowth

Track: SEM, Finance

We live in a world of conflicting policy choices as a response to the global polycrises: degrowth or innovation. In this seminar, we will dive into the detail of the nature of the crises shaping our world, the levers that policy makers have, to shape the scale of these crises, and the multiple dimensions of the solutions to overcome them through innovation. From Silicon Savannah to Silicon Valley, this seminar will analyse the innovation tools and frameworks that policymakers have at their disposal to successfully transition to a post-globalisation world.

19 August 2024 09:00 - 12:30 | Seminar | Volksschule Erdgeschoß 1

Climate Action and Democracy

Track: SEM, Climate

Explore the multifaceted relationship between climate action and democracy across Europe. We cover the current state of climate action, complexities introduced by rising populism, and the role of social media – among others. A key focus is on the potential of participatory design as a tool to enhance democratic engagement in climate action, proposing methods to directly involve citizens in policy-making processes.

Creutzig, Felix; Professor; MCC Berlin; Seminar Chair

Kolleck, Nina; W3 Professor; Universität Potsdam; Seminar Chair

19 August 2024 09:00 - 12:30 | Seminar | CCA Herz-Kremenak-Saal

The Unfolding Space Revolution: Space for Prosperity, Peace and Future Generations

Track: SEM, Security

Civil and military space assets and services critically contribute to solutions in climate change, national security, mobility, energy, or connectivity. Those contributions will rapidly become even more pervasive, and the European space sector must support the continent in increasing its status as a strong and strategically autonomous partner to the world. Participants explore the role of space in all four of EFA24's thematic tracks: Security, democracy, climate, finance and economy.

Möller, Hermann Ludwig; Director; European Space Policy Institute (ESPI); Seminar Chair

19 August 2024 09:00 - 12:30 | Seminar | CCA Heiss-Saal

Engaging AI for Democracy and Social Good

Track: SEM, Democracy

Participants explore the impact of Artificial Intelligence (AI) on societies and geopolitics, its role in the design of non-discriminatory processes, and the promotion of inclusive democracy. Through participatory and speculative design approaches, these interactive sessions will seek alternative visions for effectively using AI for social good. Furthermore, the necessary capabilities, skills, and strategies to achieve this vision will be discussed.

Anything Goes? Truth and Progress in Science and Society

Track: SEM, Democracy

Discuss provocative ideas and challenge conventional views on truth and scientific change in a free society. Are the ideas of truth and reason able to navigate us through the sea of alternatives and contradicting information? Is there one truth or many? Is there a crisis of knowledge? How real is reality? Can relativism explain different cultures and societies? What determines the quest for knowledge in science: "Trial and Error" or "Anything Goes"?

Mitterer, Josef; Professor; University Klagenfurt; Seminar Chair

Neges, Katharina; Senior Scientist; Graz University of Technology, University of Music and Performing Arts Graz; Seminar Chair

19 August 2024 15:00 - 18:00 | Seminar | Feuerwehrhaus

Negotiation Skills

Track: SEM

Negotiation is a skill you use in every sphere of life. Participants learn to negotiate in both competitive and collaborative situations. Practical exercises help identify one's own negotiation style and strategies to overcome difficulties like imbalance of power and mental biases. Learn to manage any negotiation challenges across different spheres of personal and professional life.

Giner-Reichl, Irene; EFA-Council Chairperson; EFA; Seminar Chair

Mehta, Kandarp; Senior Lecturer; IESE Business School; Seminar Chair

19 August 2024 15:00 - 18:00 | Seminar | Mittelschule 1. Stock EDV Saal

Creative Writing: What is Your Truth?

Track: ART, SEM

We use creative writing as a means to experiment with language, to develop confidence, investigate verbal expression, and find fluidity with words. Participants will learn how to worry less about the “right way” of saying something but how to write about what matters to them individually. Most importantly they will realise the value of discovery through play and understand how creative language is essential in expressing ideas in a troubled world.

A Place of Safety

Track: ART, SEM

Many actors get introduced to theatre by their parents sending them to theatre workshops to overcome their shyness and gain confidence; and so, it happens that they end up going on stage in front of hundreds of people. They will say that right there, there is their place of safety. So, what is it about working together to create a piece of theatre that produces this feeling? This seminar, led by students from the Royal Academy of dramatic Art in London, will explore this question.

Sheppard, Nona; Associate Director and Chair of Audition Panel; Royal Academy of Dramatic Art London (RADA); Seminar Chair

19 August 2024 15:00 - 18:00 | Seminar | CCA Liechtenstein-Saal

AI Tools as Digital Butlers: Responsible Use and Practical Applications

Track: SEM

The seminar offers an in-depth insight into the use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) tools such as ChatGPT, Gemini or iask.ai. It illustrates how these tools can act as digital assistants. Experimental exercises demonstrate how AI can be used practically, while discussions and reflections deepen the understanding of the limitations and potentials. The participants will discover ways to use AI technologies consciously and effectively during their studies and in daily life.

Unravelling Reality: Journalistic Methods for Truth Seeking

Track: SEM

In this seminar participants delve into the journalistic mindset and techniques to explore the complexity of truth and of our relationship with reality. Participants will be introduced to the basics of journalism through practical exercises and embark on a journey to uncover the multifaceted nature of truth through mastering interview techniques, posing challenging questions, practising empathetic listening, and understanding diverse perspectives.

Creating an Ensemble

Track: ART, SEM

Students from the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London will share the parts of their actor training that deal with ensembles. Creating an effective and dynamic piece of theatre requires every individual actor to function as part of the company. Whether they have a large or a small part does not matter – each actor is equally important. This seminar explores the routes, strategies and compromises we might employ to help us work together effectively.

19 August 2024 15:00 - 18:00 | Seminar | Volksschule Erdgeschoß Turnsaal

Woodland Dialogues: Exploring Collaboration through Movement and Sound

Track: ART, SEM

Woodland Dialogues is an immersive project in the Alpbach forest exploring the collaborative creation of dance and music. Participants will draw inspiration from nature to craft soundscapes and choreography, reflecting unity and individuality. The seminar culminates in a performance showcasing the collaborative art formed throughout the week.

Line of Departure - Leadership & Decision

Track: SEM

In military terms, the line of departure is where the attack begins and when quick, yet considered decisions and flexible, yet firm leadership are crucial. The seminar confronts the participants with challenging situations that require efficient decision-making within a group and solutions that are immediately put into action. Participants will not only gain practical and theoretical leadership knowledge but also discover new sides to their personality and skills. //INFO: If the weather allows it, the seminar will take place outdoors. Please bring comfortable clothing and steady footwear.

Staying Sane in a Smart World: Positive Psychology & Resilience

Track: SEM

Digitalisation of work offers many opportunities, but also downsides like a blurred line between work and leisure. This seminar starts from the neurobiology of (social) media use and expands to the known and unknown of the impact on mental health. Asking how one can use its potentials rather than succumb to the threats, it provides tools for selfcare and aims to develop a personalised model for dealing with the impact of media use.

A Place of Safety

Track: ART, SEM

Many actors get introduced to theatre by their parents sending them to theatre workshops to overcome their shyness and gain confidence; and so, it happens that they end up going on stage in front of hundreds of people. They will say that right there, there is their place of safety. So, what is it about working together to create a piece of theatre that produces this feeling? This seminar, led by students from the Royal Academy of dramatic Art in London, will explore this question.

Staying Sane in a Smart World: Positive Psychology & Resilience

Track: SEM

Digitalisation of work offers many opportunities, but also downsides like a blurred line between work and leisure. This seminar starts from the neurobiology of (social) media use and expands to the known and unknown of the impact on mental health. Asking how one can use its potentials rather than succumb to the threats, it provides tools for selfcare and aims to develop a personalised model for dealing with the impact of media use.

Creating an Ensemble

Track: ART, SEM

Students from the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London will share the parts of their actor training that deal with ensembles. Creating an effective and dynamic piece of theatre requires every individual actor to function as part of the company. Whether they have a large or a small part does not matter – each actor is equally important. This seminar explores the routes, strategies and compromises we might employ to help us work together effectively.

Engaging AI for Democracy and Social Good

Track: SEM, Democracy

Participants explore the impact of Artificial Intelligence (AI) on societies and geopolitics, its role in the design of non-discriminatory processes, and the promotion of inclusive democracy. Through participatory and speculative design approaches, these interactive sessions will seek alternative visions for effectively using AI for social good. Furthermore, the necessary capabilities, skills, and strategies to achieve this vision will be discussed.

European Security and the Struggle for Technological Sovereignty

Progress in emerging and disruptive technologies (EDTs) is enabling a transformation of security and the democratisation of technological tools of war for which Europeans are unprepared. The seminar investigates how Europeans can consolidate defence innovation in EDTs, reduce critical dependencies, and re-shore critical supply chains in a multipolar world. A tabletop exercise allows participants to explore how current gaps in technological sovereignty practically affect European security and defence.

Reinventing Democracy in Europe and Beyond for Future Generations

Track: SEM, Democracy

Young people are disillusioned with democracy and participate less and less in elections. Yet they remain engaged in civic life and join demonstrations among others. How can we rejuvenate democracy by designing and embracing political innovations capable of bringing young people into the fold? Participants will gain a first-hand experience of emerging participatory mechanisms and have the chance to design new ones.

European Security and the Struggle for Technological Sovereignty

Progress in emerging and disruptive technologies (EDTs) is enabling a transformation of security and the democratisation of technological tools of war for which Europeans are unprepared. The seminar investigates how Europeans can consolidate defence innovation in EDTs, reduce critical dependencies, and re-shore critical supply chains in a multipolar world. A tabletop exercise allows participants to explore how current gaps in technological sovereignty practically affect European security and defence.

Reinventing Democracy in Europe and Beyond for Future Generations

Track: SEM, Democracy

Young people are disillusioned with democracy and participate less and less in elections. Yet they remain engaged in civic life and join demonstrations among others. How can we rejuvenate democracy by designing and embracing political innovations capable of bringing young people into the fold? Participants will gain a first-hand experience of emerging participatory mechanisms and have the chance to design new ones.

Anything Goes? Truth and Progress in Science and Society

Track: SEM, Democracy

Discuss provocative ideas and challenge conventional views on truth and scientific change in a free society. Are the ideas of truth and reason able to navigate us through the sea of alternatives and contradicting information? Is there one truth or many? Is there a crisis of knowledge? How real is reality? Can relativism explain different cultures and societies? What determines the quest for knowledge in science: "Trial and Error" or "Anything Goes"?

The Unfolding Space Revolution: Space for Prosperity, Peace and Future Generations

Track: SEM, Security

Civil and military space assets and services critically contribute to solutions in climate change, national security, mobility, energy, or connectivity. Those contributions will rapidly become even more pervasive, and the European space sector must support the continent in increasing its status as a strong and strategically autonomous partner to the world. Participants explore the role of space in all four of EFA24's thematic tracks: Security, democracy, climate, finance and economy.

A Place of Safety

Track: ART, SEM

Many actors get introduced to theatre by their parents sending them to theatre workshops to overcome their shyness and gain confidence; and so, it happens that they end up going on stage in front of hundreds of people. They will say that right there, there is their place of safety. So, what is it about working together to create a piece of theatre that produces this feeling? This seminar, led by students from the Royal Academy of dramatic Art in London, will explore this question.

If the global community is to be true to its commitments, carbon emissions need to be reduced by at least 45 % globally and by at least 55 % EU-wide by 2030. Fossil fuel use and production need to be scaled down, yet the industry remains heavily subsidised. It is time to explore the most effective ways of bringing movement into the stuck system of 'big oil' power. What can (shareholder) activism, (financial) regulation, investment stewardship, or other actors achieve?

DIVES / Tonica Hunter

Track: ART

Dancing in the parking garage - join us for an unforgettable evening with a concert and DJ set: The Viennese band DIVES met at a music camp for women, inter and trans people in 2015. They have since perfected their brand of stirring multivocal indiepop with DIY vibes, characterised by lyrics about everyday sexism and self care, friendship and summer nights.

As a DJ Tonica Hunter has founded collectives and events and DJ'd at many festivals and cultural spaces. Hunter describes their sound as a merger of their Jamaican roots, their London upbringing and their ties to Africa as a member of the Diaspora - as well as the navigation of those identities.

Resilience Against a Backlash: Maintaining Momentum for Climate Action

Track: Climate, Democracy

There will either be a just transition or no transition at all – This is a statement that is often heard. Particularly in times of (anticipated) backsliding on climate action, it is crucial that a) the transition is designed by taking everyone's needs and interests into account, and b) polarising voices do not dominate the discourse. Explore arguments and policies that really work in addressing the trilemma of social justice, democratic participation and climate action and find out how to best make the case for such policies in order to counter an anti-climate mood.

Countering Far-Right Narratives and the Responsibility of the Centre

Track: Democracy

The resurgence of the far-right presents a significant challenge to democratic values and social cohesion. The political centre plays a crucial role as it oscillates between combating and adopting far-right narratives. In a constructive debate, effective countermeasures and ways to defend our inclusive and democratic societies are to be found.

European Defence: Investing More, Better and European

Track: Finance, Security

In the ongoing war of attrition, Ukraine's ability to defend itself against Russia's attacks depends on Western military assistance. However, US support is stalling and could be further reduced after the elections. This gap has to be filled by European countries which also have to replenish their own arsenals. How can Europe make better use of the potential of its defence industry and deliver what is needed?
